Evaluation of 2011 Goals and Objectives

Decrease the number of burglaries that occur within the City of Syracuse.

Burglaries in the City of Syracuse are down 25% from the same time frame in 2010. This was accomplished through efforts on several different fronts. First of all, the Department increased its attention on crime analysis and intelligence provided by the OCAC to deploy resources. This was most evident in the Department's efforts to address the 2011 summertime northside burglary issue caused by the Highland St. Gang. The OCAC developed an operational intelligence bulletin that Police Executives used to deploy resources on the northside for several weeks. Based on these efforts there was a dramatic decrease in burglaries and other related crime in this area. In addition, Community Policing was used to advocate the use of the Department's property registration website, conduct follow-up visits to burglary victims' residences to provide prevention techniques and increase communication with the community. The Chief also used Community Policing to initiate a "walk and talk" campaign in high burglary crime areas. During this campaign, door hangers with crime prevention tips were distributed and active intelligence was developed and sent to the appropriate locations. Finally, the Syracuse Police Department in conjunction with National Grid completed an extensive project to repair broken street lights in high crime areas throughout the entire City. With weekly coordination between the Police Department and National Grid, hundreds of street lights were repaired across the City thereby decreasing the likelihood of criminal behavior in these areas.

Improve community relations and explore new methods of interaction with various different segments of the public.

In 2011, the Syracuse Police Department created its own Facebook page to improve the Department's interaction with the community and build better lines of communication. The Facebook page is updated almost daily with new information on current events, crime prevention strategies for community members, and interesting facts related to law enforcement. The Department currently has over 1,000 friends following the page. Furthermore, the Department added the ability for the public to receive email or text notifications when new information is published to the Department's web page. This allows the community to be quickly informed of important public safety information. Lastly, the Department developed a Q-NET website whereby community members can post concerns regarding their neighborhoods directly to the website. Q-Net complaints are monitored by a Department Captain who distributes these complaints to operational components throughout the Department and then reports back to the Community any actions that were taken by the Department to address the issue.

Institute a computer based tracking and monitoring system for all civilian complaints and Office of Professional Standards investigations.

The Office of Professional Standards implemented a computer system called IAPro used to track and monitor all civilian complaints. IAPro went live in 2011 allowing the Chief of Police and the Office of Professional Standards to more efficiently and effectively track and monitor complaints against the Police Department and its members. The system has a built in early warning capability that notifies appropriate command staff of potential issues so that those issues can be addressed early. In addition, the Department implemented the ability for the public to issue complaints and compliments via the Department's website. These entries are immediately emailed to the Chief's office and the Office of Professional Standards.

Establish and implement a Regional Police Academy that will be held yearly in April.

On April 18th 2011 the Syracuse Regional Police Academy began its first police class. The class was comprised of recruits from many different law enforcement agencies across the region to include the Syracuse Police Department, Syracuse University Public Safety, the Rome Police Department, the Geneva Police Department, the Ithaca Police Department, the Oswego Police Department, and the SUNY Oswego Police Department. On October 21st 2011 36 recruits graduated and are now in field training programs with their respective agencies. Six agencies have already expressed interest in sending recruits to the Syracuse Regional Police Academy in 2012.

Evaluation of 2011 Goals and Objectives

Increase minority hiring and retention in order to more accurately reflect the diversity of our community.

According to the 2010 New York State Census results, the City of Syracuse is composed of the following diverse rounded population percentages: 56% White, 30% Black, 8% Hispanic, and 6% Asian. At the conclusion of 2010 the Syracuse Police Department was composed of 91% White, 6% Black, 2% Hispanic, and less than 1% Asian police officers. To accurately reflect the diversity of the City of Syracuse's community, the Syracuse Police Department must increase the hiring of Black officers (-24%), Hispanic officers (-6%), and Asian officers (-5%). The Syracuse Police Department's greatest deficiency is in the category of Black police officers. Through the diligent efforts of the Syracuse Police Department's Recruitment Section and the funding from the Common Council for the Stand Strong Recruitment Campaign; 7 out of the 21 graduates from the Syracuse Police Department's Class #15 were Black. This is a vast increase from class #14 in 2009 where 0 out of the 25 graduates were Black. Class #15's increase is in stark contrast to every previous graduating class from the Syracuse Police Department since class #1 in 1994. Since 1994 there have been a total of 297 graduates from the Syracuse Police Department's Police Academy; 17 of the graduates were Black. This is a result of a 6% Black graduation rate which is equal to the 6% of Black police officers that were employed at the onset of 2011. 2011's class #15 was composed of 21 graduates, 7 of which are Black, which is equivalent to 33% Black and does "more accurately reflect the diversity of our community".

Improve the Syracuse Police Department's interaction and response to community concerns.

The Syracuse Police Department continues its efforts to automate the Department's Tele-Serve function. Several systems were explored and are being considered relative to their functionality and cost. At this time a system to automate this function of the Police Department has not been selected.

Implement new technology to combat crime within the City of Syracuse.

In April 2011 the first nine public street cameras in the Department's pilot COPS project were installed on the near west side of the City. The site of the installation was selected based on crime analysis relative to a high concentration of shots fired complaints. The Police Department went through an extensive process of informing the community of the COPS project through numerous community meetings and public sessions of the Common Council. After a six month pilot, the results of adding these cameras indicate a resounding success. Overall crime in the target area is down 25% from the same time frame in 2010. More specifically incidents of shots fired in the target area down 14%, loitering is down 45%, and reported drug crime is down 57%. (Please see the highlighted topic the Syracuse Police Department's 2011 Annual Report for more information)

The Syracuse Police Department also purchased and installed a software program that allows Field Training Officers to accurately track, and help train new officers in the Department's field training program. The achievement of this goal helps ensure that new officers successfully completing the field training program are operating at top performance levels when given a permanent assignment within the Department.

COPS platform camera system

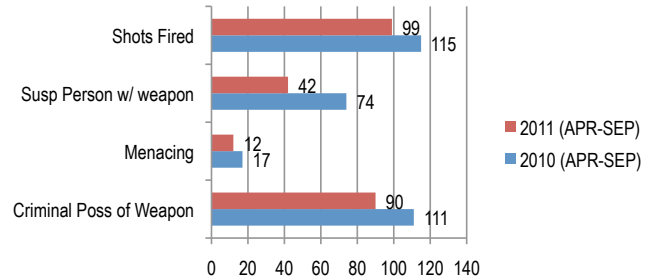

In April 2011 the first nine public street cameras in the Syracuse Police Department’s pilot COPS platform (Criminal Observation and Protection System) were installed on the near west side of the City. The site of the installation was selected based on crime analysis relative to a high concentration of shots fired complaints. The COPS platform cameras represent yet another tool in the Syracuse Police Department’s “Intelligence Led” policing strategy. The Police Department went through an extensive process of informing the community of the COPS project through numerous community meetings and public sessions of the Common Council.

In meeting with these community groups the Department learned that the community as a whole desired more interaction between themselves and the police. The Department undertook a large scale community relations initiative to build partnerships and interact directly with the public. Below is a list of some of these initiatives:

- SUN: The Department worked closely with the Westside SUN group to involve them in the camera partnership. SUN was a strong partner in this project and even petitioned the City for installation of the cameras.
- Surveys: The Community Policing Division conducted door to door surveys within the camera area to help gauge the public’s opinion of the project. The Department also collaborated with the Syracuse University Community Link project to conduct an independent survey of the residents in the camera area.
- Social Media: The Department created a Facebook page in order to interact with the community directly and in real time. The Police Department’s public website, www.syracusepolice.org, was also used to post research, Common Council presentations, and statistics relative to the project.

After a six month pilot, the results of installing these cameras indicate a resounding success. Overall 2011 crime in the target area is down 25% from the same time frame in 2010. More specifically incidents of shots fired in the target area are down 14%. Chart 1 represents the decrease in weapons related offenses between 2010 and 2011.

Chart 1

We also saw a dramatic reduction in “disorder related”, quality of life type complaints in the target area. Loitering is down 45% and reported drug crime is down 57%. See Charts 2 and 3.

An independent analysis by the Finn Institute showed the following reductions in crime and calls for service:

Type of Event	Percent Reduction
Part 1 Crime	8.3
Part 1 Violent Crime	10.6
Part 1 Property Crime	6.3
Drug Related Calls	45.9
Interpersonal Conflict Calls	16.6
Disturbance Calls	21.3
Suspicious Circumstance Calls	18.3

In light of the success of the Westside cameras, the Department plans on deploying approximately 25 additional COPS platform cameras in other areas of the City beginning in the Pioneer Homes Area near Dr. King School. The Department, in conjunction with the Syracuse University Community Link project has already conducted a pre-deployment survey of the residents living in this area to gauge public sentiment on the project.

2012 Goals and Objectives

Design a problem-solving neighborhood initiative called SWEEP (Strategic Waves of Enforcement Efforts by Police).

- Identify neighborhood-specific problems and concerns via a door-to-door canvas and then address these issues with a Department-wide teamwork strategy.

Implement an interactive online Human Resources training program (HR Train).

- Use realistic scenarios and interactive instructional courses designed to sensitize and increase employee awareness to the issues surrounding workplace harassment.

Reduce the number of felony domestic related incidents and recidivism of domestic offenders.

- Implement CODE (Chronic Offender Domestic Enforcement) by establishing a set of criteria that identifies chronic domestic offenders.
- Establish, by policy and procedure, the use of the CODE Court Case Checklist which will be applied to all cases in which the defendant is a CODE subject.
- Apply the case procedures and checklist to all felony domestic related incidents.

Continue to Increase Minority Hiring and Retention in order to more accurately reflect the diversity of our community.

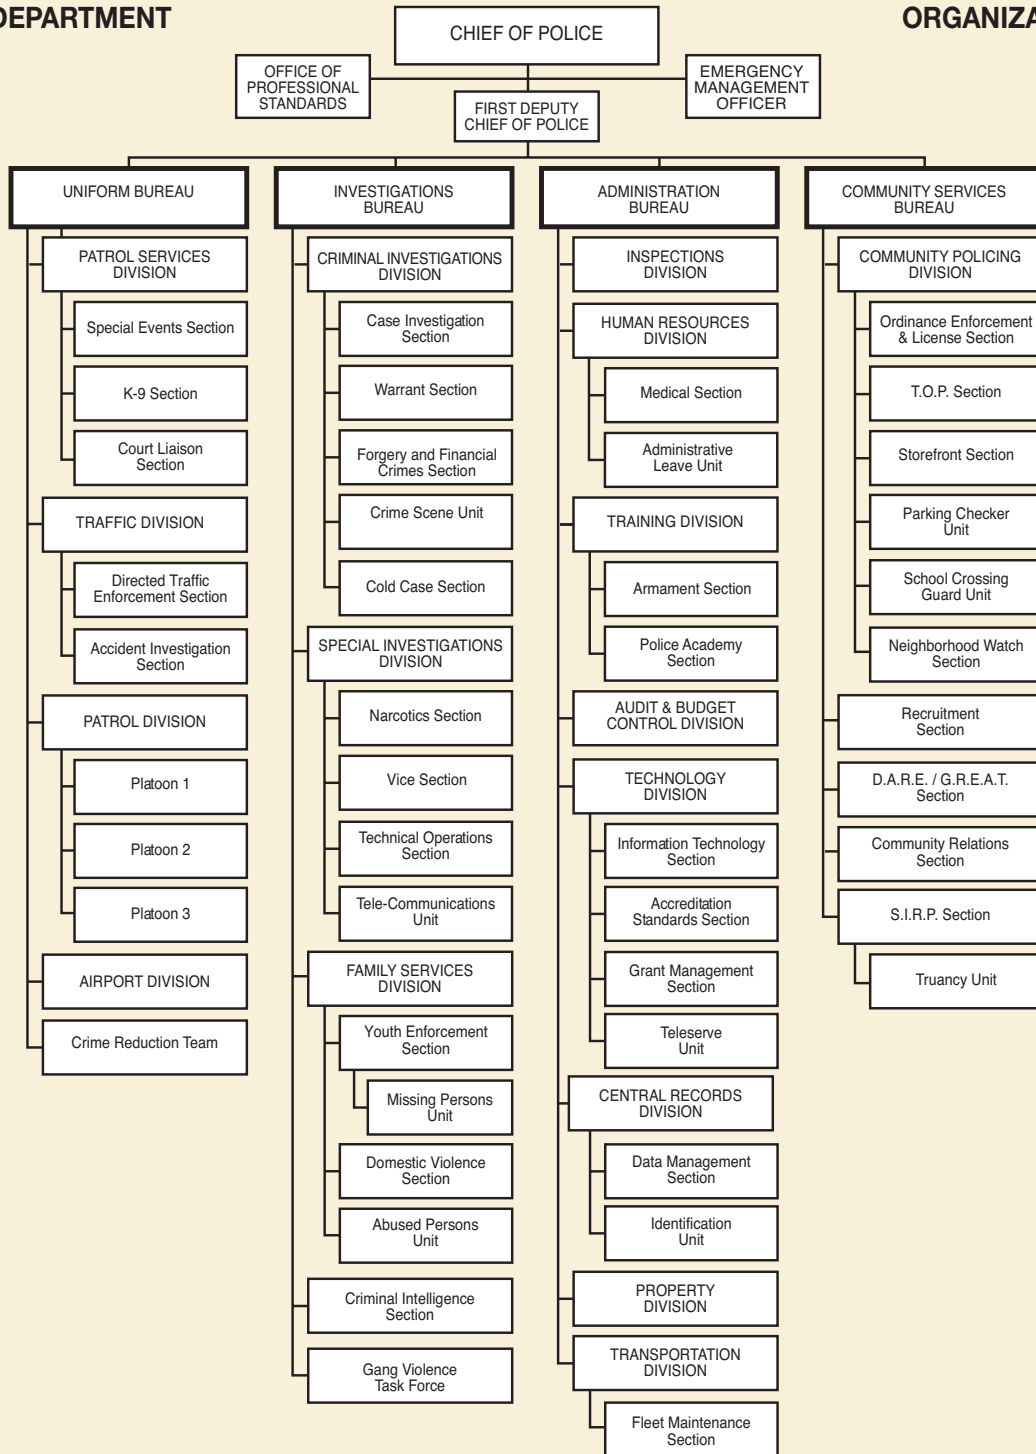

- Continue to recruit suitable candidates that represent a variety of ethnic, cultural, and racial populations while developing programs that will encourage successful outcomes for such candidates.

Organizational Chart

The Department maintains a table of organization that identifies the organizational components and establishes the chain of command and clear lines of authority.

SYRACUSE POLICE DEPARTMENT

TABLE OF ORGANIZATION

The City of Syracuse covers a land area of 25.8 square miles and has a population of approximately 145,170. The Mayor-Council Style Government governs the city. As of December 31, 2011 there were 480 sworn officers and 120 civilian personnel employed by the Police Department, with an operating budget of approximately $45,354,506.

General Goals of the Department

Prevention of Crime - Crime is a problem that affects all segments of our society, and is a concern of everyone. The Department shall endeavor to involve the community in generating mutual understanding regarding the nature and extent of the crime problem and to involve the community in crime prevention efforts necessary to reduce crime.

Deterrence of Crime - Although there are certain crimes that cannot be prevented, crimes committed against innocent victims in public places and crimes against property can be deterred by proactive police operations and an involved community. These types of crimes are deterred by the criminal's fear of immediate apprehension or by the increased likelihood of his or her detection. The deterrence of crime requires the investigation of behavior that appears to be criminally directed. The Department shall strive to organize its personnel to deter crime and inspire public confidence in the safety and security of the community.

Apprehension of Offenders - Once a crime has been committed; it is the duty of the Department to initiate the criminal justice process by identifying and apprehending the offender, obtaining necessary evidence, and by assisting in the prosecution of the case. The Department must strive diligently to solve all crimes and to bring offenders to justice. The certainty of swift and sure punishment serves as an effective deterrent of crime.

Recovery and Return of Property - While the actual cost of crime is difficult to measure, it is possible to observe the mounting cost of lost and stolen property. This loss, as well as the other costs must be borne ultimately by victims. In order to minimize the losses due to crime, the Department shall make every reasonable effort to recover lost or stolen property, to identify its owners, and to ensure its prompt return.

Public Service - Because other public or private agencies may be unavailable, the public relies upon the police for assistance and advice in both routine and emergency situations. Saving lives, aiding the injured, locating lost persons, keeping the peace, facilitating the safe and orderly movement of traffic, and providing for many other miscellaneous needs are basic services provided by the Department. It is the Department's responsibility to respond to all calls for service and to render such aid or advice, as is necessitated or indicated by the situation.

Victim/Witness Assistance - It is essential to our law enforcement efforts that we protect the rights of victims and witnesses. Therefore, the Department shall strive to avoid the traumatization of victim/witnesses by assisting them through an awareness of the psychological trauma associated with their circumstances and providing them with the necessary information regarding resources that are available to them.

Accreditation - Law enforcement accreditation is a process used to identify an agency's level of professionalism as measured by standards established by experts and practitioners in the law enforcement field. It is a goal of the Department to maintain its accreditation status with New York State Bureau for Municipal Police.

Innovation - The Syracuse Police Department has an exemplary history as a leader in forging new and innovative policing methods and programs. It is a goal of the Department to continue this tradition. Members are encouraged to think critically and creatively, present and promote ideas directed towards continuously improving the Department and the services it provides to citizens in the City of Syracuse.
